JOS MILLS, President

Contributor Tells of the Intelligence and Sad Fate of a Cat. Knowing as I do so well your interest in dumb animals and your constant efforts to prove that they have a degree of intelligence not usually conceded to them, and mindful of your request while in college that if I should observe any unusual manifestations of intellectual activity, I should note them and forward to you, I'beg that you will receive this, my first contribution and be good enough to furnish me your conclusions. In the early part of March, 1883, not being satished with the prospect of early grass in our own locality, we determined to break camp and drive our herds into a more forward grass country. Among the many important questions which arose was what was to be done with our yellow Mexican cat, Jack. We had become attached to the anima', as he had preserved us for two months from the depredations of innumerable rats and mice, and gratitude alone re-quired that some disposition compatible with mercy and your early teachings, should be made of him. We thought of the neighbors—that would not do— the whites had more than enough of their own, and the Mexicane had too many dogs and no use for cats. What were we to do? We had distinct recollections of the days of youth when we had to put the pet eat into a bag in order to move her home, even then had to go back several times for her before we could finally compass her that would never do, as we could only advance about eight miles per day and we could neither afford to go back ifter him every day, after a few days it would lose its charm, nor did we feel that he would thrive well in a bag Our solicitations were, however, all in vain. No sooner had we commenced to break camp and load our effects than our own Jack, our house pre-server and defender, loaded himself He selected a soft spot upon the load and laid down, evidently to await de-velopments. We harnessed, hitched on and started upon our journey one hundred and sixty miles away friend moved down and took his seat beside us. That night we went into camp paying no attention to Jack In the morning when he noticed that the horses were attached to the wagon and that we were attrehed to the wagon and that we were ready to start, without an invitation to ride or the "all-abourd" signal of the East he took his former place. All through that drive of nearly two hundred miles in eight mile stages he always appeared in time to start with the wagon. Through the to start with the wagon. During the div too, whenever we halted for any purpose he would dismount from his pc the and mouse around, but be as shup as we would we could never tatch him napping, could never leave him behind. He stayed with us in camp all summer and in the autumn is moved with us in the same way Upon this journey, however, he had an accident Stopping one forenoon in the shade of a grove we rested for a time and then supposing our passenger aboard we drove on After going two or three miles across a prairie trul we missed him Saddling up we rode back in search of him and when about halt way met him upon a full run and crying at the top of his voice and is though he beart would break He ran to us, jumped upon our stirruphood and quicker thin we can write it be ran up our leg-into our lip. I shall never forget the expression of his countenance—he had en in danger-ho was sate, he had been lost, he was tound We took him bick and suffice to say it taught him a leason, for he pever got leit again. He remained with us many weeks, when, it grickes my heart to tell you, one day terrine tornado blew across the prai me and leveled the tents, and all that Causes no Pain. tracks upon an adjoining ravine. Did I possess a traction of your information spon this most interesting study of natire I might venture an opinion Can it be possible that in this animal's ma-terial composition there was mingled Treatment will

Nomad, impelling him to his certain courses or was there some power, some mental force separate from his material being which was at work within him and which controlled his actions? While the former is by no means impossible. Lam constrained to the latter belief, and as I have witnessed so many separate evidences of mental activity in the horse and dog, I am forced to the conclusion that dumb animals, socalled, do reason, and that they are dumb only as we in our conceit and infference are pleased to call them so What mister who knows his horse or dog can not understand his every look, notion, sound! Yes, my dear doctor our position is correct, and the lower inimala do possess sound reasoning power call it instinct if you will. Surface Indications

What a miner would very properly term "surface indivations" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Lyes, Bolls, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoved in spring and early summer. The effete mitter accumulated during the winter mouths, now makes its presence felt, through Natme's endeavors to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Serofania. This condition causes detangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of enervation, languor and wearlness—often rightly spoken or as only spring fever." These are cylcheces that Nature is not able, un idded, to throw of the corrupt atoms which wasken the vital forces. To regain health Nature must be aided by a thorough blood purifying medicine; and nothing else is so effective as

which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the taint of Hered-

FROM WASHINGTON.

The North, Central and South American Exposition-What It Proposes.

Facilitating the Landing of Passengers-How Owen Kellar Was Appointed-Searching for Irregularities.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Hay Not Yet Resigned-His Probable Successor.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—Director-General Buck of the North, Central and South American Exposition, which is to open at New Orleans next fall, has pre pared a brief statement for the public, explaining the object and purposes of the Exposition The new company was organized last month at New Orleans under the general corporation law of Louislana, with a capital of $500,000. The stock is mainly held by merchants and bankers of New Orleans and railways tributary to that felty. The company, he says, is financially strong, and will be conducted on business principles, and neither asks nor expects pecuniary aid from the Government. It has ar-langed for the purchase of the buildings used by the Cotton Centennial Expost tion in New Orleans, and will open there in November next, and close March 31st,

The leading object of the new exposition is to develop more intimate trade relations between the producers and consumers of the United States, Mexico, South America, Central America and the West India Islands; in other words, to stimulate an exchange of our surplus manufactures for their surplus manufactures for their surplus raw material. The imperative necessity for a new commercial movement in this direction, Mr. Buck says, can be best appreciated by reference to official statistics, which show that of a total annual demand from these countries amounting to $475,000,000, the United States supplies but sixteen per cent; and of the total exports from them, amounting annually to $479,000,000, the United States takes but thirty-five per cent The management propose to obtain splendid exhibits from all Central and splendid exhibits from all Central and South American States, and the principal West india Islands, and to accompilsh this commissioners, skilled in diplomacy and commerce, will be sent to these countries, fortified with the friendly support of the State Department. This cooperation has aiready been cordially assured by Secretary Bayard.

To appropriately inaugurate this new movement, the President of the United States, the Presidents of all the Spatish-American republics, and the Emperor

American republics, and the Emperor of Brazil will be invited to the opening of the Exposition.

While the especial features of the Exposition will be distinctively American, exhibits are cordially lavited from the manufacturers and Governments of Europe and all other countries.

Facilitating the Landing of Passengers. WASHINGTON, D. C., July 8.-The Secetary of the Treasury, in response 📆 a request from the Cunard Steamship Company and the Campagno Generale Transatlantique, has directed the Collector of the Port of New York to allow immediately out of his town, leaving | vessels of these lines to land their passengers at their respective docks, instead of transferring them at quarantine for the purpose of baving baggage examined at the barge office examined at the barge office Both companies represented that the present practice of transferring baggage at quarantine and examining it at the barge office resulted in unnecessary and verations annoyance and delay to passengers In view of these representations, the Secretary concluded that the sterming of those lines be permitted to and at the r docks, where officers, detuled for the purpose, must be on hand to examine baggage.

Respectfully yours, Danish Diagrams. Mr. Kellar, who sat in Commissioner Enton's office when the Secretary's letter was received, went at once to the Treasney Department, and was immediately npointed and set to work.

It is understood that an interview took place between the Secretary and General themoseth, during which it is said the former took occasion to state with continuously because of the secretary and sec siderable emphasis, his determination to uphold the civil service law. Sourching for Irrogularities Washington, D. C., July 3 -Mr.

Austin l' Brown, whose contracts with the Bueau of Provisions and Clothing of the Navy Department led to the courtmartial of Paymaster-General Smith, had contracts with the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting. It is understood that the investigation of that bureau has for an object the discovery of Irregularities, if any, in connection with the contracts, similar to those dis-reserted in the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, as well as to examine the gen-sual method of conducting the business of the Bureau. Admiral Earl English, at present la command of the South Attantle squadron, was until recently Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recent.

An Offensive Partisan Appointed. Washington, D. C., July 8 -Owen Kellar, of Caldwell, O., who was certified by the Civil-service Commission to a $1,200 position in the Treasury Department, and whose appointment, it is aleged, vas opposed by Representative Warner, on the grounds of offensive parlizanship, was yesterday appointed to a position in the First Auditor's office When Secretary Manning heard of the case he acted promptly and ordered Mr.

The Chicago Street Railway Drivers' Strike Circuro, Int., July 3 -No attempt whatever was made yesterday by the West Division Rullway Company to bring out cars. At the headquarters of the Company the office was crowded with men applying for positions. It is stated that the Company is engaging men enough to run all the cars, and when they have enough will put all the lines in operation simultaneously. The strikers still hold possession of Western avenue between Lake and Madison streets, and are prepared to meet any sudden or unexpected move of the Company. At the corner of Mudison and Halsted streets a large crowd was present during the entire day. This, it is understood, is to be one of the principal points of at-tack on the cars, should an attempt be made to run them . It was there one of the cars was ditched Wednesday, and where several scuffles took place between the crowd and the police. Last night there were no signs of weakening on the part of the Company, and the strikers reported then tanks unbroken.

A mass meeting, attended by about 5,000 citizens, was held at Randolph Street Market Square last evening. Rich ard E. Shannon, a labor agitator from the Pacific coast, Congressman Lawler, Richard Powers, President of the Seamen's Union, and Luke Coyn, one of the dis-charged conductors, made brief ad-dresses. The sentiment of both the au-dience and speakers was in favor of the Bicodshed Feared.

CHICAGO, ILL., July 3 .- It was learned at midnight that the police authorities were making preparations to protect the property of the Street car Company, and that a determined effort would be that a determined effort would be made at six o'clock this morning to start out cars on all the lines. It was feared that if this was done there would be bloodshed, as the strikers are determined that no cars shall run before a compro mise is reached.

Big Fire in St. Louis.

S1. Louis, Mo., July 3 .- A destructve fire occurred at half-past three clock this morning on the levee near oplar street. It originated in the cotonseed oil warehouse of J. J. Bowers, and from the combustible nature of the naterials which fed the flames the conflagration v/as one of interesting or interesting the department sponded promptly and periods. sponded promptly and performed efficient service, notwithstanding which the flames communicated to the cotton seed mill adjoining, which is now burn-ing. It is as yet impossible to estimate the loss, which will be heavy. A rumor prevails that several firemen were injured, but nothing definite has been as-rertained.

strikers last night, nothing of unusual interest in connection with the strike of Not Yet Ranigned. iron-workers at the Cleveland rolling mills took place yesterday evening. This morning, however, all is excitement in the Eighteenth Ward, where the milis are located. At six o'clock the day turn of wire-mili men appeared in full force. They displayed knives and revolvers, but

About seven o'clock a teamster employed at the mills attempted to drive through the crowd to the mill, but was forced back, whereupon he struck one of the strikers with his whip and bolted Hundreds of stones, bricks and clubs were hurled after him, one of the missiles striking him on the head, and missiles striking him on the head, and knocking him senseless.

Shortly after eight o'clock a large body of striking wire mill men marched to the rolling mill yard, tore down the gate, filed into the mill and compelled those who were still at work to stop. John Howells refused to quit work when ordered, and a shower of bricks and cluos were thrown at him, a brick striking him on the head and indicting a severe scalp wound.

At nine o'clock a messenger was sent to the Seventh Precinct Station for a de-tachment of police. A body of patrol-men is to be sent out this afternoon, and serious trouble is anticipated. Forty-two hundred men are now out.

At eleven o'clock this morning a man named Harrington told the striking mill hands that he was going back to work. He was selzed by a brawney Polack, who threw him from the Connoton Railroad bridge, breaking his leg and other-Wise seriously injuring blm.

At this hour, 3 p. m., a procession of 1,500 is on the way to the Fourteenth Rolling Mill company's works are lo-cated, and serious trouble is expected when they arrive. Superientendent Walker of the rolling [mills has offered the men the wages they received before they struck if they would return to work, but they refused to do so, demanding a twenty-five per cent. increase.

Growing More Complicated. CIEVELAND, O , July 8 .- The stilke among the employes of the Cleveland Rolling Mill Company grows more compricated and threatens to assume greater proportions than anything of the kind on ecord at these mills. The property in and around the mill grounds has been swarming with men all day dressed in their Suaday clothes, coaxing or forcing out every man they could reach. Yester-day forenoon about 300 men, principally Bohemians, Italians and Polacks, who formerly worked in various capacities in the wire works, marched upon the outer gates, forced them and filed into the yards. Here they compelled every man who came in sight to quit work. Some attempted to escane into the mills, and were followed with a shower of bricks, stones and pieces of fron. Several of these missiles inflicted slight wounds upon the fleeing men At the 10d mills the fires in the boilerroom were put out and the engineers forced to leave. An engineer in another department retused to leave, but the neats of the strikers induced him to go. It was reported last evening that Super atendent Walker had agreed to restore the men at their old wages, but they were now so thoroughly aroused that they re fused to return at less than a twenty-five per cent, increase and two weeks' pay it advance, but of course the company will not yield to such demands The crowds were dispersed by the police last evening, but numerous threats of violence were heard as they began to leave. A mass meeting has been arranged for to-day. An extra detachment of police has been sent to the scane. Most serious apprehension is felt reguid ing the result of the meeting.

"Since Chas. L. Libby disappeared ! have had charge of the search that has been made to trace him, and I suppose over one hundred bodies have been viewed with a view of identifying some of them as that of the missing man. The statement that James I. Libby has written to his father is the first intimation of such a report that I have re-ceived. Mr. Libby's father is a man of eighty years, and his anxiety concerning his son is slowly wearing his life away. He is in New Hampshire at present. I know that there is no foundation for the report that James L. Libby is in Boston, or that he has written his father. If he had done so the fact would have been telegraphed to me immediately. I believe, and so do all the members of his family, that Mr. Libby is dead. We believe that he committed suicade, and all that we expect of him him is his body." He was wild when he was a young man, but since his marriage, be had led a blameless life. He was very much attached to his wife. She loved him devotedly, and it was because she be-lieved he was dead that her reason was dethroned and she committed uicide. He was never absent from his wife a single night since his marriage until the night that he disappeared. If he had led a dissipated life during that time I should certainly have known it, as his father resided in Chicago during almost that entire period." A SKATING-RINK ROMANCE.

Robbed Her Foster Mother and Shipped Boston, Mass., July 2 .- Ida Munger, fifteen years old, the adopted daughter of Mrs. Josie Munger, has for some time frequented the Highland Skating Rink. She soon mastered the art of skating, and had many admirers, but to one young man she especially showed her preference. The only drawback to their union was the lack of funds. On Monday night Ida secretly packed up $600 worth of jewelry and clothing belonging to her foster mother and, it is supposed, joined her admirer. There is no clue to their

A Kentucky Incident Enacted in Fair

PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 2.-Last night some members of a Kentucky Regimen at Fairmount Park seized a woman who was passing along, and tossed her in a blanket for half an hour in a most shame less manner. When the woman was released she went to the park police and made complaint. She pointed out Cap-tain Curtis of the Indianapolis Infantry, and who is probably entirely innocent, a one of her assailants. The park police man attempted to arrest the Captain when the latter drew his sword and pro nared to resist, but finally vielded upor the advice of friends, and submitted to arrest. He was held to bad on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

> > Proclamation.

Mator's Office, July 3, 1885. To the Citizens of Decatur:

It is respectfully requested that the anniversary of our National Independence be observed to-morrow by a general suspension of business upon the part of all citizens, to the end that everybody may have an opportunity to celebrate the day in such way as may bee please them. M. F. Kanan, Mayor.

THE first number of the Assumption Enterprise, edited by J. W. Crane, has reached us. It is a spicy, five-column juntto, and has the appearance of prosperity. Mr. Orane will give the Assumption people the best paper they ever had. He was formerly city editor of the DAILY REPUBLICAN, and knows the ins and outs of the business.

Dollar Excursion.

On Tuesday, July 14th, there will be a heap excursion from Decatur to Springfield over the Wabash road. It will be under the management of Decatur people and everybody is invited to go along and have a good time. Fare, $1.00 for the round trip; children, 50 cents. 3-dtf

In addition to the new postage rate, which has already gone into effect, a messenger system will be adopted. In all cities of 4,000 persons or over letters will be delivered immediately, between the hours of 7 e. m. and 12 midnight, which bear 10 cents extra postage. Each letter mailed with 12 cents postage will be taken its address by a special messenger.

CENTBALIA has for a number of years been known as the shipping point for most of the strawberries raised in Illinois. This year the pickers earned $36,072; the box girls, $1,082; the commission men in Chicago $12,097.50; the Illinois Central, $14,195; the loader at Centralia, was left for the growers.

readers the following interesting figures: of 700 barrels a day capacity, and it takes two large engines to keep the machinery in motion. The reporter had the pleasure of a good look at the new Hamilton Corlies engine, a ponderous and beautiful propeller, which has been in motion for a week. The room on the west end of the mill had to be enlarged to give necessary space for this engine and the two large let, North R. let, South R. 2d, North R. 2d, South R, Third... steam boilers. The ontlay for the engine and boilers alone was $5,000. The engine is a study. It is a 250 horse power giant, and the engineer, Frank Blakeny, is as proud of it as if it was his own property, and well he may be, for there is not another like it in these parts. Frank is a fixture at the mill. He is an inventor in his way, having recently made several im-portant improvements about the engine room which simplify his work and save expense, danger and annoyance common in similar departments in other mills. The mill is running on full time and is doing a large and flourishing business.

The trial of Harry Cooper and James Ellison for burglarizing W. E. Horne's barn was had before Justice Lowry yesterday afternoon, D. C. Corley appearing for the defendents and I. R. Mills for the People, in the absence of Mr. Vail, who was out of the city. The prisoners were held to await the action of the September grand jury, and both were recommitted to the county jail in default of $50 each. Later John Barger, the other boy connected with the robbery, had his hearing before Justice Curtis, with D. Hutchison as his counsel. He was also held for trial in default of $50 bail. The evidence against the boys appears to be olinching.

MANTLES,

How They May be Remodeled to Meet the Mantles are shorter than they have ever been, and are little more than shoulder capes with a narrow part of the front lengthened like a mantilia These small wraps are now popular with young ladies, who wear them. sometimes made entirely of one rich material, but they are more often combined of two pretty fibries, such as lace for the front, with beaded grenadine for the high sides that are set upon the shoulders Velvet sometimes forms the back of mantles that have piece lace on the high shoulders and the fronts may be either pleated lace or velvet. It takes very small quantities for these little wraps but as they are of rather expensive goods the best plan is to buy the pattern and fit it in white muslin to the figure then measure the muslin, and obtain the exact quantity. For those who can not af ford the woven beaded grenadine, a good plan is to buy the grenadine and sew on the beads, outlining the figures and following the veins of the flowers and leaves, or dotting them in the con-ter with large jet mill heads. Sometimes this beaded grenadine is used for the front and backs because the be coming gitter of the beads is then neutre the face, and side pieces in then be made of either plan or brocaded vevet. If an old lace mantle has been left over, and is not too highly treasured to allow it to be cut may be last in small accordion pleats on the middle back forms ove lining of reter black thin silk extend ing low on the tournure like a basque bows of watered ribbon hold it at the waist, and a short band like a belt passes between them. The short sides of grenadine either beaded or velvet-figured extend round and high on the shoulders, and require only a vaid of material and for those that do not extend below the waist line three fourths of a yaids will answer. The narrow front is of the old lace mantle and the whole will be gayer it lined with red or willow green silk such as costs forty or litty cents a vard. Silk wraps left from last year thay have shiny or greasy spots that have grown there by wear, hidden with wide spreading or numents of passementation or jet or elsetwo jabots of lice may be placed down he seams made by sewing a full githwhich allowing it to droop down which alternately on each side and tacking it there in shells sume shape, especially the shortest shapes of the material of the dress with which they are worn lor instance, blue or tan colored bison cloth black or tawn colored camel's bur have the short scarf mantle reaching only to the cloows and waist line, and trin med all over with lengthwise rows of parrow mobile braid, or else the back and fronts are plain and the braid is in horizontal lows very close to gether placed on the sides only. Sermons to Order Some curlous revelations as to the process by which sermons are man ufactured were given a case in the law courts recently A Vicar at Deptford had, it seems employed the wife of a sist him in concocting his sermons promising to remember her" in his will by way of remuneration. He how-ever omitted to make one, and her clum of £100 a year compensation was not legally enforceable though if the Vicar inflicted two sermons a Sunday on his congregation the amount was not excessive for the work done for she had to select the subjects and the texts and then "out of five family Bibles by different authors she collected the notes references, and authorities and set them in order." The idea is ployment of women and improvement of sermons 19 to be highly commended to the wives of clergymen, foremen, "and others' —London Truth.
